P3 EQUATE Community Engagement Activities & Keynote Speaker : Thursday, March 2, 2023

Dr. Stephanie Baker is an organizer and trainer with the Racial Equity Institute, a member of the Black Pearls Society, Incorporated, and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated. Dr. Baker hopes to contribute to racial justice, social justice, and liberation movements through teaching, research, mentoring, and community and institutional organizing.

Her research interests include social determinants of racial health equity, community-based participatory research, and using racial equity, antiracism, and intersectionality lenses to understand and address health inequities. Dr. Baker partners with several grassroots and community organizations including SpiritHouse, Inc. in Durham, NC to promote transformative community healing, health and wellbeing and the Alamance County Health Equity Collective, a community-based participatory research partnership created to address health equity by centering its work on the Community Health Assessment (CHA) and Community Health Improvement Plans (CHIP). Dr. Baker was also a 10 year member of the Greensboro Health Disparities Collaborative in Greensboro, NC, a partnership that addressed racial inequities in breast and lung cancer treatment.

Stephanie Baker, PhD, MS, PT
Keynote Speaker

Lexy is a Results Based Facilitator and equity coach based in Durham North Carolina. With a background in Public Health, she works for Alamance Achieves, a localized education equity initiative that seeks to use data-driven practices, a racial equity lens, and community co-development to ensure Black, Latinx, and Indigenous students succeed across education pathways and as a trainer with the Racial Equity Institute (REI). She is also a member of the Health Equity Collective in Alamance County (a Community Based Participatory Research partnership) Rural Engagement Committee for Southern Alamance, and the Health Equity and Racism (HER) Lab with Elon University, supporting work to advance equity and advocate for sustainable policy change. Lexy enjoys her time cultivating a community centered on anti-racism principles and focusing on building opportunities for young professionals to grow their anti-racism work. You will find Lexy enjoying a good book or podcast in her downtime.
